

Attention: new Revival Study Bible owners!

How to install and access the Bible Research Corporation's Classical Theological Library (BRC Library), found on the disk accompanying the purchase of your Revival Study Bible (RSB).

The installation package and search engine for the BRC Library were designed before Adobe Reader version X (10), after which time the BRC Library no longer installed perfectly on all machines or was able to make full use of its search engine's features on at least some operating systems.

For example, if you are a Mac user, Adobe Reader Version 9.5 worked perfectly with the Library's search engine on OS 8 [Mountain Lion], but any version of Adobe Reader from 10 upwards limits the Library's search features. Also, Mac users with OS 10.8 [Mountain Lion] and higher will find the installation package defunct.

Since many users with modern operating systems are not able to make use of the Library's installation package, and Adobe no longer offers version's of Reader prior to version 10, the fallback plan ("plan B") is a manual installation of the BRC Library, which limits the search engine features, but will still allow the user to view all the books and articles found in the Library.

To do a manual installation of the BRC Library found on the disk accompanying your RSB, do the following:

1. Insert the disk into your computer, and wait for the icon to appear on your desktop.
2. Open (double-click) the BRC Library Icon Folder
3. Create a new folder in the storage location of your choosing somewhere else on your computer (such as on the desktop) - Name it "BRC Library"
4. Manually COPY the disk's Library folder (and all its contents) found within the BRC Icon's folder into the new folder you've created. Make sure all the folders and files have successfully copied onto your computer. You may now eject the Library disk.
5. To access the files in the BRC Library on your computer, go to the new folder "BRC Library", then within that → Library → Files, and double-click on whichever PDF document within the Files folder you wish to open. e.g. "nog_pra.pdf" (Nature and Character of God, by Winkie Pratney)
6. Once the document opens, you should be able to access limited features of the Library's search engine, by first clicking on *Home Page which appears on the bottom of any page of every book and article in the Library.
7. Once on the Home Page, you should be able to see various buttons on the 1st page, such as Century, Title, and Author. Click on any button to search within that button's page - Century to search by century, Title to search by title, and so on.

The Bookmarks column should appear on the left hand side of Reader, showing you all the available options on each button's page. Click on any of those bookmarks to search within it. Note: the now defunct search bar may be found on the 2nd page down from the Home Page.

If NONE of the search features I've mentioned work for you, you can still access each and every individual book or article by double-clicking on it within the Files folder of the Library. Please note that you will need Adobe Reader (or some other PDF file viewer) installed on your computer in order to view these files. You can always access the Library in this manner. I just can't guarantee the search features that were originally designed to come with it will work.

Also, just as a legal disclaimer, all of this information is presented entirely independent of Armour Publishing, PTE LTD, and The Bible Research Corporation. These views are my own.

Hope this helps!

Kind regards,
